Hero's father: Back the parade

Soldiers' march wins support of Jordan's family

By NAZIA PARVEEN

THE father of an East Lancashire soldier killed in Afghanistan has backed the homecoming parade for Lancashire soldiers.

Lance Corporal Jordan Dean Bancroft, of 1st Battalion Duke of Lancaster's Regiment, was shot dead by insurgents on August 21.

Now his father Tony Bancroft is urging people to show their support for the homecoming parade in Blackburn on December 1.

He said: "I want people to support all the young men who are fighting in conflicts at the moment from div-isions across the country.

"It is important because they are fighting for everyone who lives in peace in this country and for those who died the community needs to show that we have not forgotten their sacrifice.

"Jordan would have wanted people to come out and welcome the soldiers because he knew how hard things can get for them."

More than 120 soldiers are to march through the streets of Blackburn to celebrate their return from Afghanistan.

The 1st Battalion The Duke of Lancaster's Regiment will be honoured at a homecoming service at Blackburn Cathedral.

In full uniform, the soldiers will then exercise the regiment's right under the Freedom of the Borough to march through town.

The regiment is made up of 600 soldiers, around a quarter of whom are from East Lancashire.

The battalion consists entirely of frontline fighting troops, and much of its work in Afghanistan has been patrolling recently secured Taliban territory.

It was on one of these missions that Lance Corporal Bancroft, from Earby, was killed in a gunfight.

Jordan's auntie Mandy Paul is organising a raunchy calendar to raise money for Help The Heroes.

Potty about Harry!

By EMMA CRUCES

MAGIC: Jay Howard, 19, an assistant at the Vue Cinema, Blackburn, and (left) young fans Rukshana Begum, Tania Afreen, Reema Afreen and Shazna Begum at Accrington's Vue Cinema

EAST Lancashire movie-lovers have been flocking to the new Harry Potter film.

Blackburn and Accrington cinemas offered an unprecedented number of screenings, with up to 22 showings as the picture opened.

And customers left happy with almost everyone giving Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows the thumbs up.

The keenest fans were those who attended the Potter premiere at at Blackburn's Vue Cinema.

At Blackburn's Vue cinema, 22-year-old Leah Miller said: "I just couldn't wait. We have actually booked the day off work, sad I know! We've been waiting ages for this though."

Darwen's Deborah Johnson, 50, said: "I'm a big fan and have really been looking forward to this. I couldn't wait a moment longer."

Husband Steve, 53, added: "I've read all the books and I don't like the films as much but still really looking forward to it."

The much-anticipated finale was said to live up to the hype by people leaving the cinema. In Blackburn, one fan Naeem Mohammed said: "It was very good - nine out of ten. It was different to the other Harry Potter films I thought, more grown up."

22-year-old Nick Crawshaw said: "It was very good and if you've read the book you'll enjoy it more because it's more true to the story than the other films. People say it's on for a long time but it's entertaining throughout."

Action Man!

Child development sessions help little Finley to learn the 'commando crawl'

MAKING PROGRESS: Finley Rosbotham with his mum Kelly

A family are raising awareness of a new centre that has turned their son into a little 'Action Man'.

Cerebral palsy affects 18-month-old Finley Rosbotham to the point that he cannot sit or hold up his head.

However, his parents are delighted because sessions at Accrington's Holly House Child Development Centre have enabled him to do the 'commando crawl' in the style of Action Man.

Until the age of six months, Finley's parents assumed he was a perfectly healthy baby, the same as his twin sister Ellie. When parents Ivan and Kelly noticed Finley was not sitting properly or holding up his head they discovered cerebral palsy was severely affecting their son's development.

Cerebral palsy affects Finley on his left side and has caused damage to his brain. He cannot sit up, walk or talk and has problems eating. By attending sessions at the centre since March he has learned to crawl low to the ground. Kelly, aged 35, said: "Finley has come on so much in the past year. He goes every Wednesday for speech therapy and physiotherapy.

"They have regular children's groups and the emotional support is fantastic. Ellie is welcome there too and we don't know what we would have done without them.

"Finley wouldn't be the person he is without them. He has got the crawling thing going on and he does that on his tummy like a little action man."

The event last week raised £1,936 and Accrington Academy also donated £43.

Kelly said: "Holly House doesn't just help us — it helps so many children. If we can help let people know they are there, that's brilliant."

Pupils are first class

THE Class of 2010 came together for one last time for a special celebration to congratulate their success.

Former year 11 students at Blackburn's Our Lady and St John Catholic Arts College were met by their proud headteacher Colette Gillen and special guest best-selling author Richard McCann.

This year students achieved some of the best exam results ever with 68 per cent of students gaining at least A* to C grades which exceeded teachers expect-ations after they predicted a 64 per cent pass rate for the year group. Headteacher Mrs Gillen said: Not one pupil left Our Lady and St John without a formal qualification.

"For many of you it was never easy.

"You faced many challenges. I know that there were times when it all seemed too much, but you stuck with it and we are all here to acknowledge your achievements and to celebrate with you."

SHINING EXAMPLES: Guest speaker and presenter Richard McCann with head teacher Colette Gillen, head boy Nabel Jogee and head girl Charlotte Melia

Plans to build an 'overbearing' four-storey flats development have been withdrawn in a victory for residents.

But a consultation event has now been organised for the future of the boarded-up former Hill Top care home in Manchester Road, Baxenden.

The Haworth Art Gallery will host 15-minute one-on-one appointments from 2pm to 8pm on Wednesday, December 1. Call 01254 380121 to book.

Totally Sausilicious!

TWO teams of entrepreneurs from Blackburn College fought to be a sizzling success in an Apprentice-style charity challenge.

As part of Entrepre-neurship Week, two groups of students went head-to-head in a sausage making task — similar to the one that took place on the latest series of The Apprentice.

The teams had to create distinctive flavours, source the ingredients and then make, cook and sell their bangers to fellow students on the college's campus.

Once the task was complete, the students had to pitch to a panel of judges, including Lancashire Telegraph deputy editor Alan Simpson and Geoff Riley, owner of award-winning Riley's Butchers of Crawshawbooth, who decided on a winner. The winning team — Sausilicious — impressed the judges with the overall quality of their business plan and marketing, while also managing to make a healthy profit of more than £80. Chief judge Geoff Riley, who recently won 13 Smithfield Awards for his sausages at a ceremony in London, said: "I thought the two teams acquitted themselves really well and I was genuinely surprised by how well they did.

COOKING UP A TREAT: Alexandra Flaherty making sausages

"There were a few little hiccups along the way — for instance one team forgot to order any sausage skins or seasoning — but overall they worked really well together.

"Ironically, the team that ended up losing actually made the better tasting sausage, but the other team had a better business plan, which is why they ended up selling more."

Ian Clinton, principal at Blackburn College, said: "Entrepreneurship Week is a great opportunity for our students to showcase their business savvy talents and both teams really threw themselves into this task."

More than £350 was raised for Children In Need.

A GIANT new piece of public art on the side of a Blackburn shopping centre has proved popular with shoppers — but many are shocked at its £150,000 cost.

The finishing touches have been completed on the 160ft 3D contemporary piece, entitled Threads, on the new £66million Mall building in Church Street.

The artwork is intended to symbolise Blackburn's industrial heritage as a cotton town. Interwoven steel tubes represent the stems, and the painted glass centrepiece the cotton bud itself.

It adds to five sculptures already in Church Street which show the different stages of a cotton bud as it comes into bloom.

Lorraine Jones, general manager at The Mall Blackburn, said it was worth the £150,000 expense, paid by her firm. She said: "This is a wonderful piece of art which reflects the rich cotton heritage of the town. We're sure the people of Blackburn will enjoy the installation." But some shoppers said that, while they liked the piece, they were shock its cost. One said: "I know it is not public money but to spend such a lot of money on a piece of art is a complete nonsense." And Blackburn with Darwen Council leader Kate Hollern said she was 'amazed' at the cost of the installation and joked that she 'was in the wrong job'.

EYE-CATCHING: The mural on the mall in Church Street, Blackburn

Coun Hollern said: "It is an awful lot of money to spend on art so I hope they get a return on their investment."

The Mall said the piece was intended to become a 'focal point' for the Church Street side of the centre.

The work is a collaboration between glass artist Maria Beddoes and Archangel, a trio of sculptors.

Maria is best known for her piece Never Too Late, said to be a masterpiece of the 'Intentism' movement.

Hertfordshire Arcangel do concept pieces and metalwork for gardens and homes.

WHAT PEOPLE HAD TO SAY ABOUT 'THREADS'

Derek Costigan, 68, of Clayton-le-Woods, said: "It looks lovely but with all of the cuts that are going on I can't believe so much money has been spent."

Tanya Grisdale, 18, of Blackburn, said: "It is nice but I would never have paid that much for it. There must be loads of things £150,000 would be better spent on."

Margaret Ingham, 63, of Blackburn, said: "I like the artwork but instead of putting it up they could have put the rents down on the shops and markets."

Eve Pollard, 74, of Lower Darwen, said: "I don't really like it. I watched them put it up and thought it looks funny. Just think what that money could have been spent on."

Rehana Fielding, 17, Intack, said: "I walk down Church Street all of the time and I hadn't even noticed it. It looks nice but it is a bit pointless."

Brian Atkinson, 59, of Knuzden, said: "It is good. It is such a lot of money but if the shopping centre thinks it is a good way to spend its budget then that's up to them."

Pixie's 'surprise number one'

Singer Pixie Lott talks about touring, number-one singles and recording.

60 SECONDS WITH ... PIXIE LOTT

YOU MUST BE REALLY EXCITED TO BE GOING OUT ON YOUR FIRST HEADLINE TOUR?

I can't wait, really can't wait. I've been a support act a few times so it's nice to have my own show after two years or so.

WHAT HAVE YOU GOT PLANNED?

We actually start rehearsing this week, so I only know who is going to be there. We've got four dancers – which will be amazing. I haven't danced properly since leaving school really, so I'm looking forward to that. There will be an acoustic set in the middle too, where I'm going to sing some of the covers I've done on YouTube, some medleys and things.

THE FIRST SINGLE WENT IN AT NUMBER ONE: DID YOU EXPECT THAT?

When you release your first single you have no idea. Because it took so long to make the album and actually get heard, it was a frustrating, long process, but once it happened it happened really quickly. I wasn't expecting that at all. I didn't expect my single to go in at number one.

THINGS ARE TAKING OFF IN AMERICA TOO?

Things are going well over there. I'm part of Fred: The Movie, released there earlier in the year, but comes out here in December. It's done really well on iTunes, and I'm going to go out there in February to do some promotion. No US tour as yet... so it'll be radio performances and interviews hopefully.

HOW ARE PREPARATIONS FOR THE SECOND ALBUM?

Well I'm going to the US, but the rest of the year will be spent writing the album. I think I've moved on quite a lot from the first album, and really want to spend time getting the second album right.

Down with damp

Holland Damp Proofing dries out your home and is guaranteed to work

DAMP is a creeping menace that affects thousands of homes across Lancashire.

By KATIE HOLDEN

It rots woodwork and carpets, peels wallpaper and causes fungus and mould growth on walls.

During the cold winter months damp can wreak havoc in your home and on your health. Treating your property for damp now will help to keep you warm and dry at this time of year. You could also save money because dry walls are better insulators, and a damp free home will feel more comfortable.

It is important to tackle the problem because ignoring damp can store up serious problems and also pose potential health risks – especially if you have a medical condition such as asthma or rheumatism.

For years, people have tried to solve damp problems, applying waterproof coatings or injecting walls with chemical solutions.

This can involve contractors coming into your home and drilling into brickwork to pump chemicals into the walls – hacking off and replacing plaster inside.

The work can be messy, intrusive and your home will need redecorating once it's been done.

And, despite all this upheaval, there's no guarantee that it will work in the long term. Chemical barriers tend to break down over time, and once this happens – that damp will be back.

Holland Damp Proofing is a breath of fresh air that can permanently rid your home of the scourge of damp.

The idea is simple: draw out the moisture and the damp will disappear! The Holland Damp Proof System® involves a series of small damp-regulating bricks which neatly fit into specially prepared niches in the external walls of your home, close to the ground.

EXPERT OPINION: Evert de Graaf with one of the damp-regulating bricks that have already been installed in thousands of UK homes.

These cleverly allow air to flow into the brick chambers and out again – circulating airflow through the inside of the wall which evaporates the moisture, drying out the wall and allowing it to breathe.

Holland's no-chemicals system is mess-free and as the work is completed from the outside there is no need to replaster.

No chemicals, no mess and no replastering – your property dries out… and stays dry for good.

It can be used on most types of wall (including stone) and combines perfectly with cavity wall insulation.

The company prides itself on its high standards of customer service. Holland Damp Proofing's staff handle all aspects of the business and they don't use commission-based sales people.

With thousands of satisfied customers, Holland Damp Proofing is the leading non-chemical damp proofing company in the UK (they don't trade under any other name).

10 years damp free!

Arthur Kendall

ARTHUR KENDALL wasn't prepared to put up with mess and disruption when he looked into having a damp proof course fitted. So he contacted Holland Damp Proofing, whose method of installation is mess-free, eco-friendly and is guaranteed for 20 years. Within a day the company's engineers had fitted a damp proof course.

The work took place 10 years ago and the damp hasn't returned. "It's not a problem anymore," says great-grandfather Arthur, 82.

"I must have been one of the first of Holland's customers and they did a great job. They got rid of my damp problem and it didn't come back. That's a good enough recommendation for me."

Quo and see them before it's too late!

STATUS Quo are in full swing of their annual UK tour – but make the most of it as this might be the last of it's kind.

"This could be our last year of doing the theatres." Singer and guitarist Francis Rossi revealed. "It's killing us, so we may have to concentrate on the arenas in future."

Status Quo, with the dual guitars of 61-year-old Francis and Rick Parfitt, 62, have been touring relentlessly since last March (with a short break in May as Francis embarked on his first ever solo tour). And that has been pretty much the case for the past four decades. The mighty Quo have been having hits since 1968 with the psychedelic 'Pictures Of Matchstick Men' and were almost ever-present in the charts throughout the seventies and eighties with hits like 'Caroline', 'Rain', 'Whatever You Want', 'Down Down' (their only chart-topper) and the anthemic 'Rocking All Over The World' with which they kicked off the Live Aid concert in 1985.

ON STAGE: Francis Rossi (right) and Rick Parfitt

They charted again recently with a rerecording (with altered lyrics) of their number two hit from 1986 'In The Army Now'.

The proceeds from the songs went to the Help For Heroes charity.

"We saw all these guys coming home with bits missing and not getting the right rehabilitation; Rick (Parfitt) and I spoke to our manager as we wanted to do something to help and we ended up doing the single," explained Francis.
